ALL DAY

At 07:45am we will depart from the hotel to visit Pearl Harbor located in the southwestern part of Oahu, Hawaii. Pearl Harbor overlooks the USS Arizona Memorial, which was sunk by the Japanese army, as well as USS Missouri. Afterwards, we will pass by the Hawaii State Capitol and the Pacific National Cemetery for Soldiers and Martyrs, which was closed to sightseeing vehicles after the 9/11 incident. We will pass through Chinatown and overlook the bronze statue of Mr. Sun Yat-sen. We will visit the bronze statue of the first king of Hawaii, Kamehameha, the King's Palace, and the city government building. Finally, we will visit the unique emeralds, black pearls, and red coral shops in Hawaii and return to the hotel around 12:00.

Itinerary:
Pearl Harbor (90 mins, including the USS Arizona Memorial) ? Hawaii State Capitol (pass by) ? Hawaii Chinatown (pass by) ? Kamehameha Statue, Kapaau (outside visit, 15 mins) ? Iolani Palace (Looking in the distance) ? Emerald, Black Pearl, Red Coral Shop

Note: Pearl Harbor stipulates that tour guides are not allowed to give explanations within the park; tourists are not allowed to bring any bags into the park, with the exception of wallets.

MORNING

Pearl Harbor

Pearl Harbor, nestled at the lowest point of the plains between the Kolau and Waianae Mountains on Oahu's south coast, is a US Navy base and shipbuilding facility, and one of the largest and best safe harbors in the North Pacific. The Pearl Harbor attack occurred on the early morning of December 7, 1941, when Japanese Combined Fleet aircraft and midget submarines launched a surprise attack on the US Naval Base at Pearl Harbor and US Army and Navy airfields on Oahu, Hawaii. We can see the Arizona Memorial, erected by the US government in 1980 on the wreck of the USS Arizona, to commemorate the painful lesson of that attack.

Hawaii State Capital

The Hawaii State Capitol, built in 1969, is a postmodernist architectural masterpiece by I.M. Pei, known for its unique style. The two conical legislative chambers represent Hawaii's volcanic roots, while the numerous supporting columns symbolize palm trees. The vast pool surrounding the open-air rotunda represents the Pacific Ocean surrounding the Hawaiian Islands.

Kamehameha Statue

The King Kamehameha statue is located in downtown Honolulu. The statue depicts King Kamehameha, draped in a feathered cape symbolizing royal authority, holding a spear in his left hand and extending his right hand in a gesture of welcome. King Kamehameha was the first king in Hawaiian history to unify the Hawaiian Islands. Of the fifty states in the United States, only Hawaii has ever been ruled by a king. It's no surprise, then, that the King Kamehameha statue has become a must-see attraction for visitors to Hawaii.

Iolani Palace

The ?Iolani Palace is located in the capitol district of downtown Honolulu. It is now a National Historic Landmark listed on the National Register of Historic Places. After the monarchy was overthrown in 1893, the building was used as the capitol building for the Provisional Government, Republic, Territory, and State of Hawaii until 1969. The palace was then restored and opened to the public as a museum in 1978. An interesting fact to note is that the ?Iolani Palace is the only royal palace on US soil.

H?lona Blowhole

On windy days when the tide is high, the ocean breeze sends the waves rolling onto the shore where the rock formation then shoots sea spray high into the air through the cave acting like a geyser. Today you will look at the H ?lona blowhole. This blowhole is most active when the tide is high, and the winds are strong. It can even shoot sea sprays up to thirty feet high in the air.

Nuuanu Pali Lookout

Just a five-mile drive northeast of Downtown Honolulu is the Nuuanu Pali Lookout. It offers panoramic views of the sheer Koolau cliffs and lush Windward Coast. The Pali Lookout is also known for its strong and howling winds. You'll understand why the Nuuanu Pali Lookout is one of Oahu's best scenic points when you feel the wind pushing up against you. You can even hear the winds whistle through the mountains and see the breathtaking views of

AFTERNOON

Valley of Temple

Nestled 610 meters above sea level in the lush Kolau Mountains, this Japanese-style temple was built in 1968, the first year of the Meiji era, to celebrate the 100th anniversary of Japanese immigration to Hawaii. The Byodoin Temple in Hawaii is one-third the size of the main temple in Kyoto, Japan. This sacred Japanese temple fully adheres to the hallmarks of Japanese wooden architecture, employing no nails throughout, perfectly showcasing the natural beauty of wood. General Zhang Xueliang, protagonist of the Xi'an Incident, and his wife, Zhao Si, are both buried in this tranquil valley, offering a chance to pay homage to this legendary figure.

Sunset Beach

Sunset Beach on the North Shore is one of Hawaii's most famous sunset viewing spots. It's a surfer's paradise, hosting the World Surfing Championships every winter. At sunset, the beach offers many captivating sights: children building sandcastles, young men deliberately strolling past a line of girls, and so on.
